Ann Jaedicke Deputy Comptroller for Compliance

Ann F. Jaedicke is the deputy comptroller for Compliance at the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) and has been employed by the OCC as a bank examiner for 27 years. She has examined community banks, large banks, international branches, and troubled banks.

Ms. Jaedicke began her career as a bank examiner in Texas. From 1984 to 1986, Ms. Jaedicke worked in OCC's London office examining branches of U.S. banks. Later she served as the director for OCC's large bank division. OCC's large bank division supervised twelve of the largest national banks in the United States. In 1997, Ms. Jaedicke was promoted to deputy comptroller for Supervision Operations where she managed, among other things, OCC's problem bank division and sat on OCC's enforcement committee. In 2001 and 2002, Ms. Jaedicke led projects to restructure OCC's six districts and OCC's Washington, D.C., headquarters.

In December 2003, Ms. Jaedicke became OCC's deputy comptroller for Compliance. She is responsible for policy and examination procedures relating to consumer issues, money laundering, and bank secrecy. She sits on Federal Financial Institution Examination Council's task force on consumer compliance. This task force of U.S. bank regulators promotes policy coordination and uniform enforcement of consumer protection laws and regulations.

Ms. Jaedicke is a native Texan and graduated from Texas A&M University.
